The Assam Valley School

This symposium aims to bring together top personalities from the North-East, Leaders of the industrial and education sector, current parents, ex-parents, alumni and Head of the Assam Valley School in one platform to share and discuss about the possibilities of our youth and children in the changing paradigm of the job world in the age of Industrial Revolution 4.0.

This platform will provide the possibility for a parent to not just interact with companies and organizations such as Mercedes-Benz, Admissify and The Assam Valley School, who are already known to be the best in their respective sectors, but also to interact with top personalities from other sectors as well such as media, public relations as well as our present government leaders.

Please encourage and pass this message to friends, parents and whoever is interested to share and rub shoulders with the erudite and the finest of the North-East, over High Tea.
