Editor-in-Chief, Perspective, The AVS Photographic Society

When the campus fireflies prepare themselves to be outshone by the golden glow of Williamson Magor Hall and bustle fills every corner of your home, you know that the time of the year has drawn nigh. The Photographic Society like every month since its inception, has managed to recapture the Aviators' moods and mischiefs. Frames from the fields of highlights and falls, all under one name of Perspective, a collection of photographs. Ansel Adams once quoted "When words become unclear, I shall focus with photographs. When images become inadequate, I shall be content with silence." As you flip through this month's edition of 'Perspective', I am sure you will slip into silence, not because the images are inadequate but because with pictures as beautiful as these, words are not necessary.

As the Founders' Semester sets in and the student body returns to campus, The Photographic Society also plans on conducting the first ever Inter-House Photography Competition. I wish all the very best to all Houses!
