THE HEADMASTER'S GOLD MEDAL DEBATE

On Monday afternoon, The Athenaeum of The Assam Valley School opened its floor to eight students to participate in the prestigious The Headmaster's Gold Medal Debate. The debate itself followed no format and was an individual competition between the contestants who were to parley over the motion: "This House believes that going under the knife for the sake of appearance is justifiable". The judges for the event were Dr. Navodita Pande, Mrs. Dayita Dutta, and Mrs. Mita Nangia Goswami. The event was chaired by the Head Girl, Natasha Billimoria and Bhavni Kshetrimayum. Students speaking on the motion were Zaheen Rafia Shah, the Captain of the Debating Society, Aliden Jahzara Ovung, Agnivh Prakash Bora, and Vidhi Chopra, while students against the motion were Rianna Lingjel Irom, Khushi Todi, Anushree Singh, and Karan Somani. All the contestants presented well-thought-out arguments, engaging in a heated debate through roundabout questions and answers. The audience and the judges alike were left captivated and were confused as to which side to choose, as shared by Udayveer Singh, who shared his articulate thoughts with the school after the debate. In the end, the motion failed to pass and the Opposition emerged victorious. The Most Promising Speaker was awarded to Karan Soman, while The Headmaster's Gold Medal Debate went to Rianna Lingjel Irom.
